AMERICAN PERIPHENOMENAL SURVEY

Region 10 · Cascadia · Field Research Unit

HAVE YOU SEEN SOMETHING YOU CANNOT EXPLAIN?

The American Periphenomenal Survey is a research project collecting and preserving firsthand accounts of anomalous experience across the Cascadia bioregion: Washington, Oregon, Idaho, British Columbia, southeast Alaska and northern California.

Some of what people tell us:

- A stretch of road where the same thing keeps happening to different people.
- Time you cannot account for.
- A low hum that nobody else can hear.
- A figure at the edge of the room, or at the edge of sleep.
- Some other experience you could never explain and never shared.

We are not ghost hunters. We are surveyors of the unknown.
We do not judge. We document.

SCAN THE CODE

or visit aps-project.org

Your account is published anonymously or kept private. You can choose when you submit.

Questions first? cascadia@aps-project.org
Or take a tab from the bottom of this page.

Open to adults 18 and over. The experience itself may be from any point in your life.

Methodological Agnosticism Observed · Region 10 (Cascadia) · v4.0

cut along the dashed lines · take a tab

APS · CASCADIA aps-project.org share your account	APS · CASCADIA aps-project.org share your account	APS · CASCADIA aps-project.org share your account	APS · CASCADIA aps-project.org share your account	APS · CASCADIA aps-project.org share your account